this is volume ii of five in a series on epistemology and metaphysics originally published in 1955 this text has main areas that change which has come over philosophy as we have come to realize how very strange philosophical questions are and presents a certain new view of philosophy and its associated new philosophical procedure second it presents typical philosophical disputes and illustrates the new procedure asking what has led philosophers to say the extraordinary things they have said at this stage the study aims to carry this inquiry only far enough to reveal some of the confusions excuses and reasons behind philosophical doctrines finally the inquiry is carried further and submits that there are often causes for adherence to a philosophical theory deeper than those which appear when we ask the reasons for the theory in illustration of this it ventures in outline a surmise as to one of the deeper sources which lie behind the old and phoenix like paradox change is unreal one sure fact of humanity is that we all cherish our opinions and will often strongly resist efforts by others to change them philosophers and politicians have long understood this and whenever they have sought to get us to think differently they have often resorted to forms of camouflage that slip their unsettling thoughts into our psyche without raising alarm in this fascinating examination of a range of writers and thinkers ralph lerner offers a new method of reading that detects this camouflage and offers a way toward deeper understandings of some of history s most important and most concealed messages lerner analyzes an astonishing diversity of writers including francis bacon benjamin franklin edward gibbon judah halevi thomas jefferson abraham lincoln moses maimonides and alexis de tocqueville he shows that by reading their words slowly and naively with wide open eyes and special attention for moments of writing that become self conscious impassioned or idiosyncratic we can begin to see a pattern that illuminates a
