never before in the entire history of the american theater has so much of the truth of black people s lives been seen on the stage observed james baldwin shortly before a raisin in the sun opened on broadway in 1959 this edition presents the fully restored uncut version of hansberry s landmark work with an introduction by robert nemiroff lorraine hansberry s award winning drama about the hopes and aspirations of a struggling working class family living on the south side of Chicago connected profoundly with the psyche of Black America and changed American theater forever the play's title comes from a line in Langston Hughes's poem Harlem which warns that a dream deferred might dry up like a raisin in the sun the events of every passing year add resonance to a Raisin in the Sun said the New York Times it is as if history is conspiring to make the play a classic

The Broadway revival of A Raisin in the Sun was produced by Scott Rudin at the Ethel Barrymore Theatre on April 3, 2014 the production was directed by Kenny Leon with set design by Mark Thompson page 9

The title comes from the poem Harlem also known as A Dream Deferred by Langston Hughes the story tells of a Black family's experiences in South Chicago as they attempt to improve their financial circumstances with an insurance payout following the death of the father and deals with matters of housing discrimination racism and assimilation

Created by Harvard students for students everywhere Sparknotes books contain complete plot summaries and analyses key facts about the featured work analysis of the major characters suggested essay topics themes motifs and symbols and explanations of important quotations

When it was first produced in 1959 A Raisin in the Sun was awarded the New York Drama Critics Circle Award for that season and hailed as a watershed in American drama a pioneering work by an African American playwright the play was a radically new representation of Black life a play that changed American theater forever the New York Times copyright Libri GmbH all rights reserved

This classic American drama tells the story of the Youngers a family that must struggle with their own inner divisions in addition to the racist attitudes of society at large as they move into their dream house in a community unwelcoming to African Americans complete with an introduction by literary critic Harold Bloom this new title in the Bloom's Guides series also features an annotated bibliography and a list of other works by the author

A Raisin in the Sun is a classic American play a groundbreaking 1950s civil rights drama and has a strong claim to be the greatest play of the Black American experience deeply committed to the Black struggle for equality and human rights Lorraine Hansberry's brilliant career as a writer was cut short by her death when she was only 34 A Raisin in the Sun was the first play written by a Black woman to be produced on Broadway and won the New York Drama Critics Circle Award. Hansberry was the youngest and the first Black writer to receive this award. She was also the first person to be called young, gifted, and Black. The play is set in South Side Chicago where Walter Lee, a Black chauffeur, dreams of a better life and hopes to use his father's life insurance money to open a liquor store. Humane and heart-rending, the play depicts characters and a whole society with complexity and reality. This student edition features expert and helpful annotation including a scene-by-scene summary, a detailed commentary on the dramatic, social, and political context, and on the themes, characters, language, and structure of the play, as well as a list of suggested reading and questions for further study and a review of performance history.

The moving story of the life of the woman behind A Raisin in the Sun, the most widely anthologized, read, and performed play of the American stage by the New York Times bestselling author of Mockingbird, a portrait of Harper Lee written when she was just twenty-eight, Lorraine Hansberry's landmark A Raisin in the Sun is listed by the National Theatre as one of the hundred most significant works of the twentieth century. Hansberry was the first Black woman to have a play performed on Broadway and the first Black and youngest American playwright to win a New York Critics Circle Award. Charles J. Shields's authoritative biography of one of the twentieth century's most admired playwrights examines the parts of Lorraine Hansberry's life that have escaped public knowledge: the influence of her upper-class background, her fight for peace and nuclear disarmament, the reason why she embraced communism during the Cold War, and her dependence on her white husband, her best friend, critic, and promoter. Many of the identity issues about class, sexuality, and race that she struggled with are relevant and urgent today. This dramatic telling of a passionate life, a very American life through self-reinvention, uses previously unpublished interviews with close friends in politics and theater, privately held correspondence, and deep research to reconcile old mysteries and raise new questions about a life not fully described until now.

prefiguring postblackness explores the tensions between cultural memory of the african american freedom struggle and representations of african american identity staged in five plays between 1959 and 1969 during the civil rights era through close readings of the plays their popular and african american print media reviews and the cultural context in which they were produced carol bunch davis shows how these representations complicate narrow ideas of blackness which often limit the freedom struggle era to martin luther king s nonviolent protest and cast malcolm x s black nationalism as undermining the civil rights movement s advances these five plays strategically revise the rhetoric representations ideologies and iconography of the african american freedom struggle subverting its dominant narrative this revision critiques racial uplift ideology s tenets of civic and moral virtue as a condition of african american full citizenship the dramas also reimagine the black arts movement s restrictive notions of black authenticity as a condition of racial identity and their staged representations construct a counter narrative to cultural memory of the freedom struggle during that very era in their use of a postblack ethos to enact african american subjectivity the plays envision black identity beyond the quest for freedom anticipating what blackness might look like when it moves beyond the struggle the plays under discussion range from the canonical lorraine hansberry s a raisin in the sun and amiri baraka s dutchman to celebrated yet understudied works alice childress s wine in the wilderness howard sackler s the great white hope and charles gordone s no place to be somebody finally davis discusses recent revivals showing how these 1960s plays shape dimensions of modern drama well beyond the decade of their creation
